

GLENFIDDICH ARTISTS IN RESIDENCE PRIZE - CANADA

TERMS OF REFERENCE

The Glenfiddich® Artists in Residence Prize is now celebrating its fifteenth year globally. This program invites Canadian artists to work and live for a period of three months at the Glenfiddich Distillery in Dufftown, Scotland. The program offers the winning Canadian artist a residency prize valued at $20,000, along with a chance to collaborate with other celebrated international artists from around the world, in the historic and scenic Scottish highlands.

Who: Established artists currently living and working in Canada. Collaborative partnerships are welcomed however the total reward and production budget remains as is for individual artists.

Where: The Glenfiddich Distillery is located in Dufftown, Scotland. Dufftown has a population of around 2000, and is situated in the beautiful Speyside and Highland countryside. The nearest shopping town is Elgin, nearly 30 minutes away, and is reached by an hourly bus service. The nearest train station is Keith, which is 20 minutes away by car/taxi.

Duration: Three months in 2016, to be taken sometime between April 1, 2016 and October 2016. Artists who wish to do so can extend their stay for longer than the three month period upon agreement with the program manager/curator.

Exhibitions: Exhibitions/installations or performance projects of new or 'in progress' work will be planned during the residency program. Details will be confirmed upon the arrival of the artists.

Work: During the residency, artists are to use their time at the distillery and the freedom it offers to create work which meets the aims of the art program as outlined above. This could manifest itself through any medium and be specifically influenced by the family history of Glenfiddich, the people and processes at the distillery or indeed some of the materials specific to the whole process such as copper, steam, water, malt and barrels. Equally valid would be the wider community in the local area or something from outside of the distillery environment. A work created during the residency will be left behind for the Glenfiddich collection. This will be arranged and agreed with the program manager/curator.

Community: An element of community involvement/education should be considered. The content and scale of this is left to the imagination of the artist and the program manager/curator.

Award: £1400 (approx. $2,500 CAD) per month for up to three months, totalling to £4200 (approx. $7,500CAD), travel costs (set maximum), free all inclusive accommodation. A material allowance of up to £5800 (approx. $10,000CAD) is awarded on acceptance of project proposal.

Facilities: Accommodation is provided in a self contained house on the distillery site (to include studio space) for the period of the residency. Accommodation can be extended beyond the residency period at our discretion and on terms mutually agreed. Access to distillery facilities and workshops (with proper guidance and adherence to company Health and Safety policies). A gallery/performance/workshop is available, that can be used for prearranged projects.

Note: If specialized equipment is required for the completion of the work, artists should enquire beforehand as to it's availability.

SELECTION CRITERIA

Candidates for The Artists in Residence prize are requested to outline how they would like to use their residency, what kind of work they envision creating, how they will be inspired by the distillery environment and possibilities that can be explored during the residency period; this could be anything from the accumulation of family heritage, the community of craftsmen who have worked there for decades and the materials they employ, or the artist's wider personal development that will come over this inspiring three month period.

Artists in consideration for evaluation will be judged based on the submission of an outlined set of criteria including:

- A short project proposal
- Current CV
- Short artist statement
- 5 to 15 images or 3 minutes of video highlighting your artistic practice
- The supplied questionnaire

Proposal: Artists will provide a narrative description of 200 words describing potential projects and ideas, illustrating to the selection panel how the applicant thinks and works, residency expectations and work plan.

Questions to be considered: Why are you applying to the Glenfiddich Artist in Residency, specifically? Why are you applying at this point in your career?

Biography: Artists will provide a narrative paragraph of 200 words highlighting career accomplishments as an artist including relevant education, awards, residencies, exhibitions, publications, projects, etc.

Statement: Artists will provide a 100 word narrative paragraph that describes the applicant's work and working practice in general. The statement will relate to the submitted Work Sample.

Work Sample: The artist will submit a minimum of 5 and a maximum of 15 images, or 3 minutes of video. Total images size may not exceed 15 MB. Images may be submitted via a link to a data sharing platform (ie: Dropbox, We Transfer etc.) or through an html link to an external site (ie: Youtube, Vimeo etc.)

APPLICATIONS

To apply please submit your application and links to your work samples in a single package, uploaded to a data sharing platform (ie: Dropbox, We Share etc.) Relevant login information and password must be included with the submission. Links must be active for at least one month after the submission deadline.

Send the link to your application via email to artistsinresidencecanada@glenfiddich.ca

All applicants should be in possession of a current valid passport. To enter the UK and participate in this program applicants must apply and secure a Tier 5 (Creative and Sporting) entry visa. William Grant and Sons are members of the UKBA Sponsor management System.

The selected applicant will be issued with a valid Certificate of Sponsorship which will allow them to obtain the relevant visa.

SELECTION PROCESS

Completed applications must be received by midnight eastern standard time, January 31, 2016. Candidates will be shortlisted for jury consideration based on the completion and relevance of their application.

Jury members will select a short list of 8 finalists by February 20, 2016.

Final selection is agreed upon by the Artists in Residence project manager/curator in conjunction with the Glenfiddich Canadian Brand Manager by February 27, 2016.

The Artists in Residence prize recipient will be notified by February 28, 2016

PUBLICITY ACTIVITY

The Artists in Residence program creates a fair amount of media interest. Artists should be prepared to undertake some media interviews, photographs and support the PR efforts behind the program both at the Glenfiddich distillery and in Canada. Glenfiddich is also keen to support exhibitions / previews where feasible. Artists will be kept apprised of media relations activities pertaining to the artist involvement.
